CLIFFORD-EARP DRIVES 100 MILES IN 1:15:42 2-5

The Best Previous Time for This Distance Was 1:18:24 Made by H. W. Fletcher.

Explosion of the Stanley Steamer Puts It Out of Commission as It Starts in the Hundred Mile Event.—Two-Mile-a-Minute Race Postponed Until Monday—Many Thousands of Spectators Witness Yesterday's Great Event.

Walter Clifford-Earp, in the 80 horsepower Napier, belonging to S. F. Edge, in the One Hundred Mile Championship race for the Minneapolis cup yesterday afternoon on the Ormond-Daytona Beach, covered the distance in 1:15:42 2-5, beating all world's records. Earp, at the thirty-fifth mile in making a turn, lost the right tire on the rear wheel, and he made the other sixty-five miles on the three tires, amid the cheers of thousands at and in the vicinity of the Club House.

E. Cedrino, in the 110-horsepower Fiat, was second, and he also smashed the world's best time, made by H. W. Fletcher, in his De Dietrich car, on this course last year. His time was 1:18:24. Cedrino's time yesterday afternoon was 1:16:31. William M. Hilliard, in his 80-horsepower Napier, made the 100 miles in 1:21:5. This was the third best time and proves that this time can be lowered, if better conditions had prevailed.

The great race throughout was exciting, and the fact that Clifford-Earp made the run on three tires has given him confidence that he can again lower his great time. Every time the driver passed the Club House with his car, great crowds would cheer the plucky driver on to victory. Clifford-Earp handled the machine in a remarkable manner.

Cedrino would have been the victor in the race had it not been for the fact that in the early stages of the event, while making a turn, he also was so unfortunate as to lose a tire. He, however, did not desire to take any chances in riding over the course on three tires, but promptly stopped his car and put on another tire.

V. Lancia, in the other 110-horsepower Fiat, suffered an accident, breaking his radiator. He fell out of the race and in consequence did not finish the 100 miles.

The Christie car with Walter Christie and Louis Chevrolet, was with the starters but did not finish. It dropped out south of the Club House, having made about 65 miles when the machine failed to go. The Christie car, when it passed the 48 mile post had made the distance in 37:20 which is positive proof that the owner and his driver were not getting the speed out of the machine which they anticipated.

Those passing the Club House on the first twenty-eight miles were Clifford-Earp, in the Napier, who passed first, followed by E. Cedrino, Lancia third, Walter Christie fourth, with Hilliard, also in a Napier, fifth, and Harding in a 45-horsepower Daimler, passed sixth. The cars were started thirty seconds apart, so that there would be no mishap. Starting the cars apart also made it all the more exciting as each one of the machines speeding down the beach, and gaining or losing as it was, kept the surging crowd continually at fever heat, figuring out who would be the prospective winner.

At the forty-mile post, Lancia in his Fiat car was only 31 seconds behind Cedrino, who was the last driver to pull out.

Walter Clifford-Earp lost considerable time on this first forty miles, as he was 5:35 3-5 behind the scratch man. Hilliard, in the Napier, was 7:52 behind the scratch. E. Cedrino in the Fiat, whose time was taken at the forty-eight mile post, was 31:08 1-5. Walter Clifford-Earp, in the Napier was [illegible] behind Cedrino, at this stage of the race, and was rapidly gaining.

At the time Cedrino was at the 60 mile post the time recorded was 47:27 1-5. Walter Clifford-Earp at this instance was 7:41 1-5 behind Cedrino, while Harding, who also drove a Napier car, was 11:02 behind the Fiat car, driven by Cedrino. When Christie pulled out, he was twenty-five minutes behind the leader.

At the 88-mile post Clifford-Earp had covered that distance in [illegible] 1-5, while Cedrino at this stage of the game was 3:52 behind the famous Napier car. Hilliard was then 5:13 1-5 behind Walter Clifford-Earp.

Stephens, in his 200-horsepower Darracq, was scheduled to run in the One-Hundred-Mile race, but the technical committee came to the conclusion that the Darracq car was not equipped with deflagrators. The other drivers refused to run in the event if the Darracq car was entered and hence he was ruled out of the 100 mile race.

STEAMER EXPLODES.

An accident befell the [illegible] Stanley racing car yesterday afternoon at the start of the Two-Miles-a-Minute race. A cylinder in the rear portion of the machine was blown out, which necessarily put the racer out of commission. The management of the races, after hearing this news, announced that the Two-Miles-a-Minute race would be postponed until Monday afternoon, when the crowning of the Speed King will follow.

All interest was centered in the Two-Miles-a-Minute race, which was scheduled to take place, but due to the accident of the Stanley Steamer, which is above told was the cause of great disappointment.

It was announced that the Darracq 200-horsepower car would be the first to run, but the crowd waited patiently for nearly half an hour, when it was said that the Stanley Steamer, with Fred H. Marriott, as driver, would be the first marvelous car to break the Two-Miles-a-Minute record. The great red machine darted down the beach, with a confidential look on the face of the driver, and excitement was intense. Within a few minutes it was noticed by spectators that there was something wrong with the machine, Marriott circled around several times, and returned to the starting point. The information was then flashed to headquarters that one of the cylinders was blown out, leaving a hole on the left side. The car was then brought up the beach, towed by a runabout, and taken to the Lamont garage, at Ormond, where Stanley's men are now at work putting in another cylinder. The owner hopes, however, to have the racer in old form by Monday afternoon, at which time almost every one believes he will carry off the Times-Union trophy, and be crowned as the Speed King of the world.

Thousands yesterday afternoon wended their way to the beach. The Club House was jammed, and the beach, for nearly a quarter of a mile on each side of the Club House, was a mass of packed humanity.

More than half of the press representatives who spent the week here furnishing stories for their respective papers left today for Palm Beach to report the motorboat races.

The various trophies were placed on a stand, yesterday afternoon, erected in front of the grandstand. Photographers, as soon as they saw the elegant prizes, began to group and many snap shots were taken of the cups. The prizes remained on the stand but a short time as a light drizzle set in and it was decided to carry them into the Club House.

Every mode of conveyance was used yesterday afternoon in bringing people to and from the racing beach. There were several hundred automobiles and carriages in the vicinity of the Club House.

Mrs. M. L. Jones, Jr., E. G. Walker, of Quay, Fla., and Miss Helen Miller, of Titusville, form a trio of pleasant people, who spent the past several days attending the races. They were guests of Schmidt's Villa.

Rev. Maurice P. Foley, of St. Augustine, spent several days in the city the latter part of the week attending the automobile races.

Christian F. Teitzin and wife, of New York, are in the city, and are stopping at Schmidt's Villa. Mr. Teitzen is president of the West Side Bank in the Empire City.

Colonel and Mrs. E. M. Tyler, of Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., who have been spending the past several weeks here, left yesterday for San Antonio, Texas.

The special train operated by the Florida East Coast Railway, which arrived about noon each day, brought a fair number of Jacksonville and St. Augustine people to see the auto events. Those who came down yesterday, returned to their homes pleased with the afternoon's events.

It was reported to Marshal Zuber, yesterday, that a man had been touched on the beach for a $200 diamond stud. The man gave the city officers a description of the two parties whom he suspected. The marshal then got on his detective clothes and succeeded in landing the two suspects at the station. The parties proved to be two well known and popular transportation men, who promptly showed credentials and other evidence which proved to the marshal's satisfaction that they were not crooks.

Dr. C. W. Judson, Miss M. C. Johnson and Miss Stella Rossignal, of Greenville, S. C., are in Daytona for a few days, guests of Schmidt's Villa. Dr. Judson is 86 years of age, and is hale and hearty. He is still practicing his vocation, that of a school teacher.

R. W. Pritett, of Gainesville, who has been spending the week in the city with relatives, returned home last night.

A Poem for Today

GETTYSBURG

By Eugene Field

YOU wore the blue and I the gray
On this historic field,
And all throughout the dreadful fray
We felt our muscles steeled
For deeds which men may never know
Nor page of history ever show.

My father, sir, with soul to dare,
Throughout the day and night
Stood on old Little Round Top there
And watched the changeful fight,
And, with hoarse, inspiring cry,
Held up the stars and bars on high.

At last the flag went down, and then—
Ah, you can guess the rest—
I never saw his face again.
My father's loyal breast
Is strewn with these sweet flowers, I wot,
That seem to love this sacred spot.

The smoke of battle's cleared away,
And all its hatreds, too,
And as I clasp your hand today,
Oh, man who wore the blue,
On yonder hill I seem to see
My father smiling down to me.

WHEN WE TWO WALKED IN ARCADY

By Caroline Duer

WHEN we two walked in Arcady,
How sweet the summers were!
How thick the branches overhead,
How soft the grass beneath our tread,
And thickets where the [illegible] red
Were full of wings astir, my dear,
When we two walked in Arcady
Through paths young hearts prefer.

Since we two walked in Arcady
(How long ago it seems!)
High hopes have died disconsolate;
The calm eyed angel men call Fate
Stands with drawn sword before the gate
That shuts out all our dreams, my dear,
Since we two walked in Arcady
Beside the crystal streams.

Beyond the woods of Arcady
The little brooks are dry.
The brown grass rustles in the heat,
The roads are rough beneath our feet,
Above our heads no branches meet,
And yet, although we sigh, my dear,
Beyond the woods of Arcady
We see more of the sky!

Many Spectators, Including Ladies, in Attendance on Trial of Mrs. Post at Jacksonville.

Saturday's Times-Union:

More interest was displayed yesterday in the trial of Mrs. Helen Wilmans Post in the United States Court, than has been shown any time since the trial began last Wednesday.

Mrs. Post, as the public is well aware by this time, is on trial for the alleged fraudulent use of the mails in carrying on her business of mental science healing. At the time the alleged offense was committed, she had her headquarters at Seabreeze, Fla., where she has a beautiful home, and where she has done a great deal to improve that section of the country.

Yesterday's session of the court was attended by a large number of spectators, among them being many ladies, who appeared to be deeply interested in the testimony given by the witnesses.

For the first time since the trial was begun, a new witness was placed on the stand yesterday; that is, a witness who did not testify in the former trial of the case. This witness was S. L. Bishop, formerly a clerk in the employ of Mrs. Post at Seabreeze, but now residing in Kansas, where he is a mail carrier on a rural delivery route.

Mrs. Kate Haney was the next witness. She had also been employed by Mrs. Post, and identified several letters that had been received from Mrs. Post's patients, and told of the treatment that was given the patients.

E. E. Starkey, of Seattle, Wash., who was at one time employed by Mrs. Post to do some building for her, was the next witness. This witness testified that he had been around Mrs. Post's house a great deal, and had frequently talked with her, and had heard her speak of her treatment of patients.

EIGHT CENTS PER LETTER.

S. L. Bishop, the new witness, was the next to the stand. He also testified as having been employed in the correspondence department of Mrs. Post's mental healing business. He had been paid at the rate of 8 cents per letter for the letters he wrote in reply to patients and applicants for treatment. Witness had heard Mrs. Post say that she believed her mind could exercise control over old age and death, and that she did not believe any disease was incurable. He testified that some of the letters written by him were sent out without being submitted to Mrs. Post. He admitted that letters were received by many of those under treatment in which the patients had expressed themselves as having been greatly benefitted by the treatment, and some had said that they had been cured by Mrs. Post's treatment.

Edward F. Britton, who was the first witness introduced by the Government during the present trial, was recalled, and identified several copies of the paper called Freedom, which had been printed by him while he was in Mrs. Post's employ.

The Government still has a half dozen or more witnesses to place on the stand, and there is hardly a possibility of the prosecution getting through with its side of the case today.

The defense has a large number of witnesses to examine and the case bids fair to consume the large portion of next week.

Judge Boarman is taking part in the questioning of the witnesses, as he frequently does in cases on trial, and with a few pointed questions manages to get from the witnesses a clear and concise summary of the important portion of the testimony they have given while on the stand.

The officers of the Minneapolis Club are: Col. Frank M. Joyce, President; Asa Paine, Vice President; A. E. Pengly, Treasurer; Dr. C. E. Dalton, Director; Col. W. Cauley, State Engineer of Good Roads Association. All of the officers were in the party.

A Poem for Today

THE TRUE COMPANION

By Charles Mackay

GIVE me the man, however old and staid
Or worn with sorrow and perplexity,
Who, when he walks in sunshine or in shade,
By woodland bowers or bare beach of the sea,
O'er hilltop or in valleys green with me,
Throws off his age and gambols like a child
And finds a boyish pleasure in the wild,
Rejuvenescent on the flowery lea.
Him shall the years press lightly as he goes,
The kindly wisdom gathered in the fields
Shall be his antidote to worldly woes,
And the o'erflowing joy that nature yields
To her true lovers shall his heart inclose
And blunt the shafts of care like iron shields.

BALL GIVEN AT HOTEL ORMOND.

Annual Automobile Tournament Ball was a Brilliant Affair.—An Elaborate Program Rendered.

Friday night the annual automobile tournament ball was given in the spacious Hotel Ormond Casino, and seldom has a more delightful social function been given. Brilliant in every appointment, elaborate in the minutest details, the ball will long be remembered by the many guests as one of the most delightful society affairs of the winter season.

In honor of the event the spacious casino had been beautifully and appropriately decorated. Palms and potted plants lined the hall, and the brighter colors were furnished by the magnificent roses and other flowers, which seemed to be peeping everywhere out of the darker background of green. Great American flags draped their folds over the brilliant assemblage of guests, and from available points were suspended the foreign flags, in honor of the visitors from across the waters. The tricolor of France, the Union Jack of merry England and the colors of Italy, all were seen.

The elaborate dance program rendered by the Hotel Ormond Orchestra, delighted everyone. Assembled in the ball were the guests, the names of many of whom are known in the most exclusive social circles of the country. Prominent among them were the officials of the tournament, and the Speed Kings, in whose honor the ball had been given.

Pretty Miss Mary Stancill, chosen by the people of Florida as the most beautiful and popular young lady in all the State, was present, and honored guest. Miss Maud Frye of Palatka, who stood second in the voting contest, and who had made such an excellent showing, was also a guest of the hosts.

The scenes on the dance floor were brilliant. The rich gowns of the ladies, the wealth of flowers everywhere, and the constantly changing groupings as the dancers wove in and out across the smooth, polished floor to the soft strains of the exquisitely rendered dance music, all united to make a picture which will long be remembered, and a scene which will always stand out as one of the features of the fourth annual automobile tournament. The dance numbers were all appropriate to the occasion and there was not a single number but what was dedicated to some of the Speed Kings, who have been doing mighty battle over Florida sands.

The houseboat Shearwater, of Jacksonville, with Captain W. W. Steam, and W. E. Masters on board, arrived last night. After spending several days here they will leave for Miami.

Some people appear to think that it makes no particular difference where they buy shoes, that all shoe stores are about alike and that it's about the same thing everywhere. These people are laboring under a great hallucination of the mind, for there is fully as much difference in shoe stores as there is in the people who wear the shoes.

We've Shoes for Men, Women and Children,
